Susan Fahsel, founder of Magnabilities® teams with Creative Imaginations to launch a new product line called Mixaparts®.

The tag line, Where your art is a part, hints at what Mixaparts® is all about. Mixaparts® is an innovative crafting system that allows you to create, protect and display your mini works of art in clear pods, and the necklace allows you to interchange those pods and wear your art for everyone to enjoy.

Jack Behlmer, president of Creative Imaginations, has 25 years in the craft industry. He knows that when you find a product that fits such a diverse target market, retailers take notice. Jack agrees that Mixaparts® is perfect for ages 5 and up, easy enough for the beginner, yet complex enough for the seasoned artist. "This product adds a different twist to the scrapbook and jewelry industry, melding the two together. We all love our scrapbooks and journals, but this gets your works of art off the coffee table, or bookshelf, and allows you to showcase your art while wearing it."

Mixaparts display has been designed to be compact, but don't let the small size fool you. It is large enough to make an impact to what counts the most to the retailers, the bottom line. They put together all the right components to complete several projects which consist of necklaces, clear pods to protect your art, 12 unique themed paper sets, Swarovski® crystals & much more to fit inside the pods. This makes it convenient for the consumer to pick out the parts to complete their project.

For beginners it's simple to create art that makes you proud to wear. Create one, ten or twenty for yourself, the skies the limit! No tools required!

For seasoned artists, Mixaparts is sure to keep your attention and spark your creativity. It's a blank canvas, literally. Part of the product line includes a blank canvas pack to let the advanced artist add more complexity using their existing tools and supplies to challenge themselves and spark their creative imaginations.
